Improved Hospital and Physician Access

University Hospital is located in Newark, NJ. This addition will increase member choice and improve hospital and physician access in this service area. University Hospital, a 519-bed facility, is once again available through a full services contract. The hospital is located at the following address:

University Hospital
150 Bergen Street
Newark, NJ 07103

DocFind/directory information

University Hospital will be added to DocFind®, our online provider directory, upon the next scheduled DocFind update following the effective date of the addition. We update DocFind six days per week with provider information coming directly from Aetna's Enterprise Provider Database (EPDB). EPDB is the single source of provider data for all U.S.-based providers. University Hospital will be added to the next printed provider directory.

Please let us know if you have any questions, or if you need any additional information. We appreciate your business and are excited to communicate this addition. We will continue to keep you informed of any changes in our local network.
