New AHA website clarification

We hope you have had time to explore the new design of amerihealth.com/tpa. Please note: the URL (clients.myahaplan.com) that you currently use to access the client portal will continue to be accessible and remain as the main access point to the portal. If you've bookmarked the client portal, that link will continue to work. The new AmeriHealth Administrators website is another way to access the client portal. From the site, go to Resources, then click on For employers, and the client portal is accessible from that page.
