

THE OPIOID EPIDEMIC AND EMPLOYERS A FOUR-PART SERIES

Join us for a web meeting on Oct. 23

The opioid epidemic has taken center stage in the U.S. health care conversation, impacting communities and industries across America. Prescription opioid pain medications have increasingly impacted employee health and productivity. As group health plan sponsors, employers have a vested interest and unique opportunity to help combat the epidemic.

Please join us on Tuesday, October 23 from 2:00 – 2:45 p.m. ET for the first in a four-part web meeting series. We will:

- Review the latest legislative and regulatory developments around opioid use
- Spotlight industry trends and insights in addressing the epidemic
- Discuss employers' important role in this issue, and strategies to consider at your own organization

This session will feature state and federal updates from Cigna experts along with perspectives from a congressional insider.

As always, there will be plenty of time to answer your questions – and to be sure we address your most pressing concerns, we're offering you the opportunity to submit questions in advance when you register.
