

Globally-mobile employees have unique needs. Their wellness solutions should be too.

Date: July 25, 2019

Time: 2 - 2:45 pm EST

REGISTER NOW

The experiences globally-mobile employees may consider exciting can become the exact situations they may struggle to adapt to. New cultures, languages, or work environments can all be stressors. This is why employers should tailor wellness programs to the specific health issues of their globally-mobile workforce – providing the right benefits, to the right people.

Join us for a discussion with:

- Ann Deugo, Vice President, MetLife Worldwide Benefits
- Rodney Kuntz, North America Sales and Account Mgmt. Leader, MetLife Worldwide Benefits
- Mike Clark, Area Assistant Vice President, Gallagher Benefit Insurance Services, Inc. (GBS)

To learn more about:

Trends in the expat wellness space

How clients are using expat data to design wellness strategies — and their challenges and successes

SIGN UP FOR THE WEBINAR

MetLife Worldwide Benefits offers a suite of health and wellness solutions to support your clients' globally-mobile population — in addition to a wide range of customized solutions and services that are just right for your globally mobile workforce. Contact your MetLife Worldwide Benefits Account Executive for more information.