

Small businesses are starting to navigate the reopening process. MetLife is here to help.

2020 continues to bring an unprecedented level of challenge for small businesses and their communities. But along the way, small businesses are showing incredible resilience and adaptability.

MetLife and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce are working together to monitor the pulse of small businesses' and their response to our monthly Small Business Coronavirus Impact Poll.

Much of the focus this month is on reopening and what that looks like in various sectors and regions throughout the country. Here are a few of the latest highlights from the full report:

Most businesses are partially open. Seventy-nine percent of small businesses are either fully (41%) or partially (38%) open.

Revenue expectations improve. Now, 50% expect next year's revenues to increase, while 19% expect them to decrease. Last month 47% expected an increase and 25% expected a decrease.
