

When we started this year, we never could have imagined that our world would be where it is now. While we really want to meet you face-to-face, Oscar has adopted social distancing policies that prevent us from hosting in-person broker events for the near future.

However, we are still equally dedicated to serving our broker community and are prepared to do so virtually. We are hosting a series of broker webinars to introduce you to our 2021 Oscar product suite and to your local Sales team. Click the link below to find an upcoming webinar for your market and register to attend!

We look forward to doing business with you this year and we hope you can join us!
