

MLR Premium Rebate Checks Begin Mailing in September for Impacted Groups

Customers who are qualified to receive premium rebates for the 2019 MLR Payout Year are expected to receive their checks by the Sept. 30 deadline.

For benefit plan year 2018 (2019 MLR Payout Year), UnitedHealthcare's results show 49 aggregation sets — 45 group and 4 individual—qualified to receive premium rebates totaling $169,633,214. For a summary of which states, legal entities and size of business (aggregation set) will be receiving a rebate, refer to the Final 2018 MLR Rebate Report.

Broker reports for their customers will be posted on UeS by September 13, prior to checks being mailed.

Final customer-specific results were verified in late August 2019. Prior to mailing checks, UnitedHealthcare sales and account managers, as well as brokers, will have access to rebate reports to assist customers with any questions regarding their eligibility for a rebate in September.

The reports include the amount of rebate owed and paid, as well as the MLR percentage achieved by the aggregation set in which the policyholder was grouped. Below is a table that shows aggregate sets and premium rebates over the past three years:

	2018	2017	2016
Aggregation Sets
Group Business	45	43	40
Individual Business	4	6	9
Total	49	49	49

Premium Rebates	$169,633,214	$150,676,168	$114,954,917
------------------------	----------------------	----------------------	----------------------

Premium rebate checks begin to go out by the end of the second week in September and will be staggered over a three-week period. A
